

Larry's Lines...

Tomorrow

How easy it is to fondly dream of tomorrow. It is tomorrow that we are going to be happy. Tomorrow we will perform our duties with zeal. Tomorrow we will be all that we should be.

Lest we fall into such a trap let me remind you of what others have said about this day waiting on the other side of the sunset.

To-morrow you will live, you always cry;
 In what fair country does this morrow lie,
 That 'tis so might long ere it arrive?
 Beyond the Indies does the morrow live?
 'Tis so far-fetched, this morrow, that I fear
 'Twill be both very old and very dear.
 "To-morrow I will live," the fool does say;
 To-day itself's too late; the wise lived yesterday. (Martial)

Where art thou, beloved To-morrow?
 When you are old, and strong and weak,
 Rich and poor, through joy and sorrow,
 Thy sweet smiles, we ever seek,-
 In thy place -ah! well-a-day!
 We find the thing we fled — To-day! (Shelley)

How oft my guardian angel gently cries,
 "Soul, from thy casement look, and thou shalt see
 How he persists to knock and wait for thee!"
 And, O! how often to that voice of sorrow,
 "To-morrow we will open," I replied,
 And when the morrow came I answered still,
 "To-morrow." (Lope De Bega)

To-morrow, and to-morrow, and to-morrow,
 Creeps in this petty pace from day to day
 To the last syllable of recorded time,
 And all our yesterdays have lighted fools
 The way to dusty death. (Macbeth)

Tomorrow is such a dangerous day, and of so little use to us, that perhaps we should seize this moment and this day. What do you think?

 Larry
